

You need to create an account on eBay. Once you've done that, you can either purchase an item on eBay, wait for it to arrive, and then sell it.

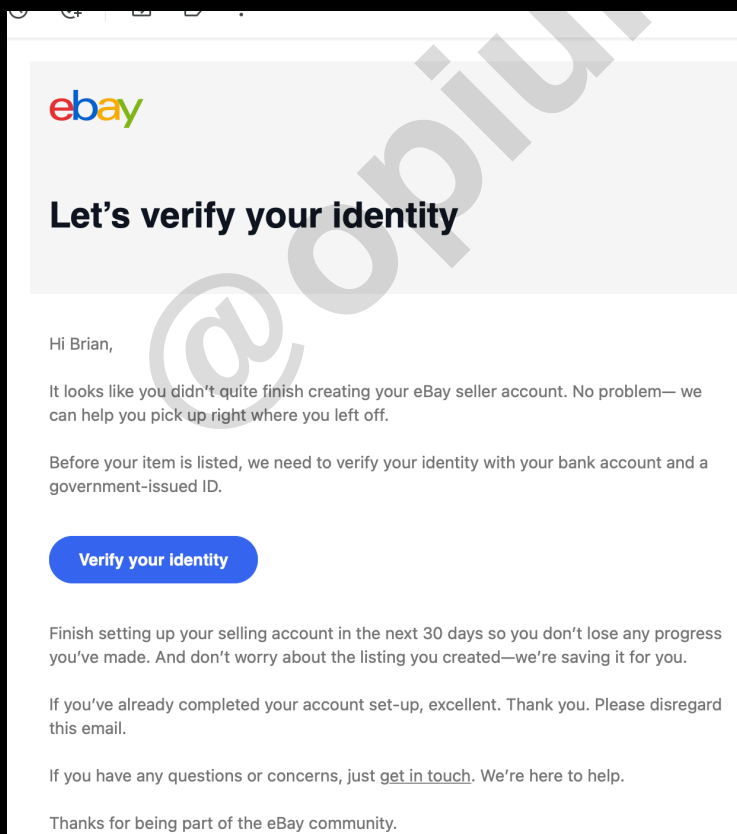

OR

You can create an account on eBay, purchase an item from YOUR store as guest, and wait for the money to be available in your bank.

The process should be smooth.

Tools Needed:

- Socks5 proxy
- Non VBV debit/credit card.
- eBay Account

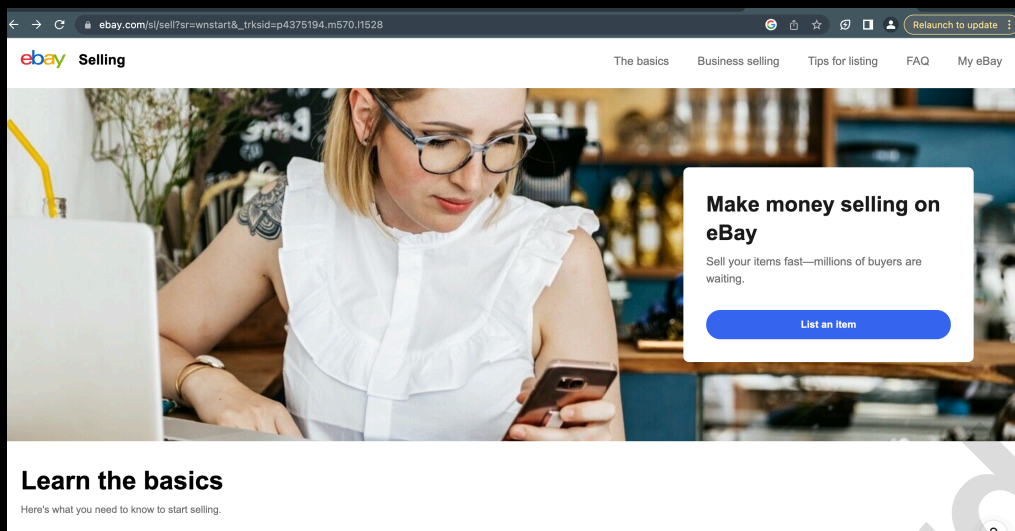

You'll receive this email before you can start selling. They just ask for the front and back of your ID.

If you don't have an ID buy some fullz you can head unto scanlab.cc and order one.

It has a scannable barcode and will pass most verifications including Unemployment Benefits.

If you can't afford an ID get someone to create the account for you

After that all your problems are over just go list the item for sale.

After Listing your item, switch locations to the location of the card you're going to use to card and use a different browser to open the link to the item.

Bidding isn't necessary but it looks less scammy because a scammer would not want to waste time doing all that.

Its a lit practice that will prevent future red flags.

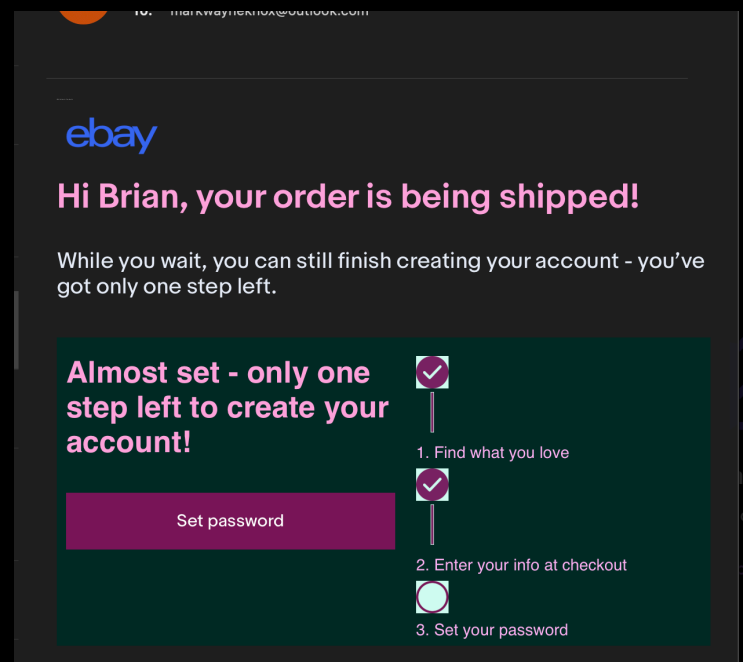

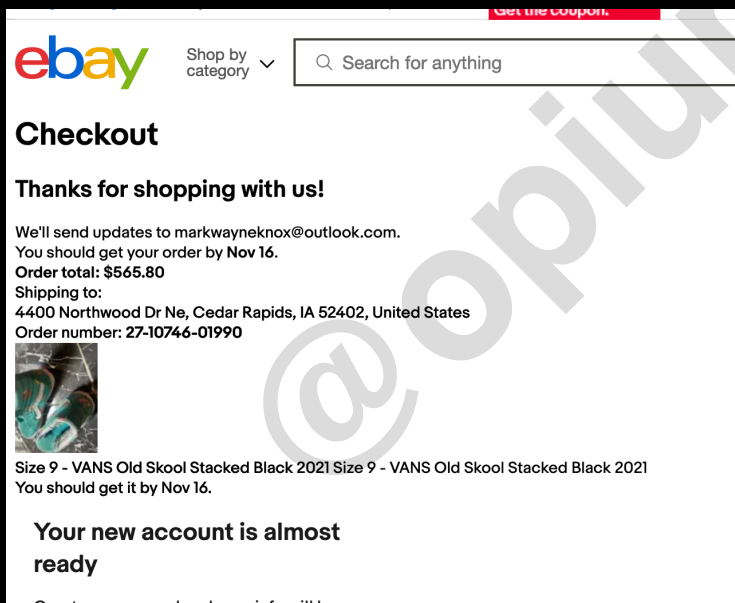

Now for the carding part.

Carding Ebay has no issues. But here's some errors you guys still do.

- When carding make sure your ip isn't blacklisted
- Try to match Card Location to socks location as much as possible. Make sure at least City and State matches.
- Use socks. VPNs need a miracle or a really low security card to work unless maybe its some super good paid one.
- Wipe history with CCleaner and Flush DNS in command prompt.

To flush DNS open command prompt, type below code and hit enter
Ipconfig/flushdns

Now payments can be as short as 2 days or as long as 7 days.
If you turned on local pick up and list the item as delivered, you'll get it in 2.

As that's cool I prefer to ship. Higher risk of the card charging back but it looks so unsuspicious I feel.

Coming Up cloned cards , stimmy creations and cookups and CPN
